MAR
53 5 1
1992 5

5

846,597

Abstract of the Disclosure

A time domain communications system wherein time modulated, impulse derived signals are multiplied by a template signal, integrated, and then demodulated. By this process, usable signals are obtained which would be otherwise obscured by noise.